ABSTRACT

Between December 1987 and March 1988, a study was conducted at the Community College of Rhode Island (CCRI) to determine the employment and educational status of students who graduated from the college in 1987. The study used mail and telephone surveys and obtained an 89.5% response rate from the 371 CCRI graduates. Study findings included the following: (1) 48.2% of the graduates were employed full time and not attending school, 13.1% were employed full time and attending school part time, 10.3% were employed part time and not attending school, 2.4% were unavailable for employment, 2.8% were unemployed and searching for employment, 9% were continuing their education full time, and 14.2% were attending school full time and working part-time; (2) average salaries for those working full time were $14,934 in 1985, $17,110 in 1986, and $18,502 in 1987; (3) average annual salaries ranged from a high of $23,942 for fire science graduates to a low of $13,151 for fine arts graduates; (4) 71.3% of the graduates were employed on a career basis, and 28.7% on a temporary basis; and (5) 39.2% of the graduates who transferred to a four-year institution were attending Rhode Island College. For each CCRI program of study, the report presents the number of 1987 graduates, their educational/employment status, average salary of graduates working in their field, and lists of the graduates' employers and transfer institutions. The survey instrument is included. (AYC)

REPORT ON JOB PLACEMENT
AND EXTERNAL TRANSFER
OF 1987 GRADUATES

The Report on Job Placement and External Transfer of 1987 Graduates covers two major areas: the employment status and approximate salary ranges of graduates who joined the work force and a list of colleges and universities currently attended full time by graduates who elected to continue their education.

This report helps to identify the goals and career directions of 1987 graduates of the College and provides important information that can be used in the recruitment and advising of students. It is hoped that it will be useful to both prospective and current students, to guidance counselors in the state and to businesses and industries that are potential employers of our graduates.

In order to obtain the information contained in this report, a survey was conducted by the Job Placement Office on a continuous basis from December, 1987 through March, 1988. First, a questionnaire was mailed to the graduates and the return was approximately 32.5%. As a follow-up, a telephone survey was conducted which produced a return of an additional 57%. A sample of the questionnaire used can be found on p.59.

The survey results show that 72% of the graduates are employed, 23% of the graduates are continuing their education and 5% of the graduates are unemployed. Some graduates are both employed and continuing their education. Average salaries, based on a forty hour work week, are indicated for each program. A further breakdown of these statistics can be found within the report.
